

MAUI COUNTY IS STIRRED UP BY HOT CAMPAIGNS

Primary Election for Local Offices Find Rivalry Running High

Under the new law providing spring elections for the "outside counties," Maui, Hawaii and Kauai are in the last days of keen primary campaigns, the primary balloting to be held on Saturday.

From Maui county in particular comes the news of hot local political fights. The liveliest campaign in the recent history of Maui is now in full swing. That the fight is a keen one everybody admits.

There is no opposition to the office of county treasurer and county auditor. For every other office on Maui there are aspirants who get no sleep these days in their endeavor to present their cases properly before the Maui voters.

The real fight this year are for the chairmanship of the board of supervisors, where the race is between three men, all of whom claim they have a good chance of winning the primary nominations, and for the office of county attorney, where the struggle is between D. H. Case, who is now in his third term as legal light for the county, and E. H. Beyne, one of Maui's new practitioners admitted to the bar only a few years ago.

Copp is busy.

For chairman of the board of supervisors, George Copp is making converts to his cause in all parts of Maui as rapidly as he can get over the various districts. Sam Kalama has a host of old friends standing pat and this keen politician says he is going to be the incoming chairman, but admits the victory will not be an easy one. John W. Kalua is the other candidate for office, and in all his speech-making he is making great promises of what he will do for the Hawaiians if he is elected. The fight has been a pretty clean one among these three men and each is standing on his own merits in the speeches, without many vituperatory remarks. Just what backing each man has is not known, for the voters are more silent than usual in their support. In the present campaign there seems to be fewer promises than usual.

The fight for county attorney is hot. Beyne is saying that the county at present is spending far too much money for that office alone, and that he will be able to do all the legal work for the county, giving the office his whole attention. This is answered by Case, who says that the office of the county, together with not infrequent summons to Honolulu for work on the territorial courts on county affairs, and the cases that are continually arising in the district courts that demand his attention at the county attorney, make the presence of at least one assistant in that office an absolute necessity. Anyone that knows local conditions realizes that it is no easy task to have the calls come in from all parts of the large county of Maui and be always able to answer them.

Among the many applicants for seats on the board of supervisors the fight seems to be narrowing down to four or five candidates who are putting a great deal of effort on the primary election. Some few men are quietly passing around a marked sample ballot by their friends, while they themselves are not entering into the campaign. Other aspirants are traveling the county from end to end, and expect to vote a big vote and secure their election without further effort. Dave Fleming and Philip Pail from the Lahaina district have been securing many votes in the campaign, and good prophets declare that both men are sure of a place on the new board.

Just how much of a contest there will be between Glen Crowell, the present sheriff, and Charles Lake, who is running against him, no one knows. Both men have a lot of friends working for them. The fight between these two aspirants is not as keen as for the other offices; at least, the average voter does not hear so much about the chances of the men running for the office of sheriff.

The struggle on Maui is convincing the voters that changes in the primary election law are greatly needed, and it is urged that the present legislature will make it impossible for members of one party to vote in the primaries for candidates of the opposite party. If a Republican is able to vote only for Republicans, and a Democrat only for Democrats, the present bitterly contested primary election with the possibility of a constant mixup in party will be hereafter avoided, say Maui critics.

PROTEST NOTED AGAINST LOCAL TRACK ATHLETES

The eligibility of several athletes entered in the A. A. U. track meet next Saturday will be investigated by the local registration officials at a special meeting to be held tomorrow evening. When the entry list was first announced, it was intimated that several protests would be registered, and Chairman Soper of the committee announced that any such protest would have to be submitted in short order, as last-minute protests would not be considered.

Benjamin H. Mills, the speedy sprinter of the 25th Infantry, who enters the meet as a member of the Kamehameha track team, and Harold Baldwin, the middle distance man of the Punahou Athletic Club, have been protested on the ground of professionalism, and testimony in their cases will be taken tomorrow. As the A. A. U. has taken the position that it had no jurisdiction over purely military athletic events, such as that held at Kapiolani park during the Carnival, in which Mills was a point winner, it does not seem likely that participation in this event will be counted against the track sprinter of the 25th Infantry.

Following is a notice sent out today to all interested clubs and individuals by Chairman J. F. Soper: "Sir: This is to notify you that a meeting of the registration committee of the Hawaiian branch of the A. A. U. is hereby called for Friday evening, the 12th inst., at 7:30 p. m. in the office of the Hawaiian News Company."

"The purpose of this meeting is to consider a protest against Benjamin H. Mills and Harold Baldwin as well as other matters of importance. The names committee and you as an individual as well as anyone else that is interested are requested to be present."

Respectfully,
J. F. SOPER,
Chairman Registration Committee."

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A. J. SHERIDAN'S

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce. While on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all a matter of what they eat. It's the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all. This folks say this because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffed won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "fat there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare their fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition, I always recommend eating a small tablet with every meal. Scrolo is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective. And a small tablet eaten with each meal will multiply the effect of increasing the number of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

The house finance committee's report recommending passage of the bill to exempt homestead improvements from taxation was adopted today.

Because it might prove too expensive for the territory the finance committee recommended that the bill to provide loans of $500 each to homesteaders be killed. It was.

The finance committee of the house recommended today that the bill relating to the licensing of "social clubs" to serve liquor be amended so that it be amended to grant a license to be retained by the license commissioners instead of by the boards of supervisors, as the original bill provided.

Black suits, prince alberts and "white fences" were the order of the day in the house of representatives and the efforts of the house members, especially of Speaker Holstein, made the usually dignified members of the senate select obscure seats in the house chambers today at the marriage of Dr. G. Huddy, representative from Hawaii, and Mrs. Henrietta Sullivan. Bill Crawford, discarded his white suit for a darker garb and even "Eky" Fernandez donned his Fourth of July "white fence." C. H. Cooke, Oahu representative, appeared in a prince albert, while D. P. R. Iseberg covered his frame with similar raiment. The speaker himself set what spectators called "a grand example."

ASSOCIATED PRESS

(Associated Press by Fed. Wireless.) EL PASO, Texas, March 11.—Any attempt on the part of the United States to intervene with force of arms in Mexico will reunite the whole Mexican nation, and the United States will have to conquer a united Mexico. This statement was made yesterday to the Associated Press by Pancho Villa, leader of the main opposition to Carranza. The statement was made by Villa at Torreon.

Villa stated that the same situation would confront any foreign intervention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—The formal reply of First Chief Carranza to the protest of the state department against the general lack of protection to foreigners in those portions of Mexico under his control, particularly in the City of Mexico, handed him by Consul Stillman, has been received today. The text is being deciphered and will be considered today.

No official information regarding the contents of the reply has been given out here, but an unofficial report from Vera Cruz says that the note is addressed to President Wilson, personally, and not to the state department. In his reply, Carranza takes the position that the questions which the American government have put to him for solution are questions that involve the failure or the success of the revolution under way against his government.

He denies that Gen. Obregon created any of the distress which he feels prevails in the City of Mexico, stating that Obregon, on the other hand, did all that he could to alleviate the suffering among the poor there. He blames the merchants for the distress, because they closed their stores and refused to continue business as a protest against the tax which Obregon had imposed to collect relief funds.

BRITAIN'S LIFTING OF SUGAR BAN TO AFFECT HAWAII?

Influence on Price is Discussed Here—Opening of Dardanelles Bigger Factor

The effect on the sugar market of the announcement of Great Britain's intention to lift the ban on the importation of sugar from neutral countries was the topic of discussion today among sugar factors, agents and brokers.

According to the despatch from London it was intimated by Home Secretary McKenna in parliament that the success of the Allies' blockade on Germany would make it safe for private British sugar importers to order shipments without danger of their falling into German hands. This means also that Great Britain intends to give up government control of the sugar supply.

There is a division among sugar men in Honolulu as to the effect on Hawaii's supply. Some say it will make no difference as the government has itself been buying all the nation needs and that private importations would not well their purchases. Others thought it would increase the importations to Great Britain and thereby raise the price of sugar.

Another international factor pointed out was the prospective opening of the Dardanelles. This will release at least 200,000 tons of sugar from Russia and possibly, if the Brussels agreement is held void in time of war, much more. In that case England will likely get much of its supply from Russia and the price is likely to drop.

"I don't think myself it will affect us much," said A. M. Nowell, manager of the Sugar Factors company. "I don't see how it can. In the first place, England has all the sugar it will need for some months, according to Willett & Gray. In the second place, I don't think any more will be bought than would be under the present circumstances, not enough at any rate to affect the world market to such an extent that the price will be raised. And that is the only way we are affected."

"I think the opening of the Dardanelles and the release of at least 200,000 tons of Russian sugar is much more important."

A similar view was taken by W. A. Love, broker. The British situation, he said, was too mixed for any indication at present as to what effect the change will have.

"England first put on the restriction because it didn't want sugar brought in from Holland that would originally come from Germany and thus help its economy," he said. "Another thing was that the government itself bought a huge amount of sugar last fall at a high price and it didn't want that price lowered by importations by private sellers."

"Just what the situation is now that makes it lift its ban I can't tell, and whether it will go into the market heavier than it did when under government control also is problematical. What buying British importers will do will have to be from Cuba, of course. It may be that private dealers won't be willing to pay as much as the government did in its war order, but the motives of the warring nations are too concealed for any generalization."

W. O. Smith, secretary of the Hawaii Sugar Planters' Association, refused to express any opinion.

"I can't tell myself whether the purchase for the English supply will be increased enough to raise the price," he said. "I doubt if it affects us much indirectly in that way. Of course, it won't directly because we don't export to England ourselves anyway."

CHARGE BENN ALSO MARRIED IN RUSSIA IN 1875

Charges that the real name of M. R. Benn of the Bell Clothing store in Hotel Street is M. Rubenstein, that he married Tillie Rubenstein in Juvin, Russia, 1875, from whom he has never been divorced, and then married another woman in Hawaii in 1912, were embodied in the warrant charging bigamy, sworn out by United States District Attorney Jeff McCann. Benn is out on bond. He will be given a hearing March 30.

A despatch from Chicago two days ago said warrants had been sworn out there for two brothers of the name of Rubenstein to appear as witnesses in a bigamy case. This cablegram is said to have led to Benn's, or Rubenstein's, arrest. It is believed the woman claiming to be Benn's first wife is there.

Benn came to Honolulu from South Africa a year and eight months ago, and has been in the clothing business at 132 South Hotel street ever since. He denies that his name is Rubenstein, and will not talk about the affair. The present Mrs. Benn is likewise reticent.

MUNICIPAL FAVOR FOR MARCHANT 'BRAIN' MACHINE

When C. P. Crawford, representative of the Marchant Calculating Machine Co., who is in this city placing some stock and selling machines, called upon one of the municipal officers yesterday to make a demonstration of this wonderful little machine he had been there but a very few minutes before the entire audience of city employees present was enthusiastically voicing their several favorable opinions as to the merits of the mechanical mathematical mind. It is really just that, in the highest state of perfection, for every form of problem can be worked out with great ease.

This company has been manufacturing and marketing these machines from the Oakland factory for the past year and a half and so great has been the success that a short time ago the directorate, owing to the inability of the present factory to put out sufficient machines to meet the overwhelming demand, decided that the only thing to do was to enlarge the plant.

In view of this decision it was also decided that a certain limited number of shares of capital treasury stock should be sold in order to obtain the necessary amount of capital for the aforementioned improvements. As a consequence Mr. Crawford has come to Honolulu to place some of this stock. The ground has already been purchased and the plans completed.

The company is not a speculative proposition, but a sound, active, growing concern with an almost unlimited future yet comparatively undeveloped. The last financial statement is one which will stand as rigid an examination as will the men who head the company.

The object of this advertisement is but to introduce Mr. Crawford and his company to those people of Honolulu who might be interested in a good, safe remunerative investment. Mr. Crawford has taken office number 202 in the Hawaiian Trust building, where a demonstration of this machine may be arranged for, and facts and figures regarding the status of the company are accessible to all interested parties. Make personal call or write for appointment for day or evening.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP HAMPTON 'INVASION'

Obering the instructions given by Circuit Judge Ashford as given last week the territorial grand jury is believed to have undertaken an investigation of the charges made by Mrs. Leoda Hampton against several policemen. The woman, in a letter to the circuit judge, complained that the officers broke into her house on King street and that in consequence, she was robbed of several hundred dollars.

The grand jury convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Among the witnesses called to appear before it were a "Mrs. Hammond," D. H. Kahamoku, F. H. Jaikes, B. Sizemore, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Looney, Pearl Jones of Schofield Barracks and W. H. Hutton.

THE BATTLE FRONT

PETROGRAD, Russia, March 11, via London.—The number of head and arm wounds of the men at the front is enormous, for men in trenches expose only their heads and arms. Many hundreds are hit in the head and death does not result from the wound. Occasionally one may see the slightly wounded walk back with heads bound up or arms in slings. Motor trucks loaded with wounded tear along the roads leading back to the extreme front. Perhaps 40 per cent of the wounded are back on the firing line after three months' care and rest in a hospital. It all depends on a man's health and blood. If the blood is pure and good, the soldier gets the first aid, proper treatment and his wounds heal by first intention.

Good blood is everything to every man. It means fresh strong nerves, good digestion, good circulation. Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery marvel at the way it checks blood diseases. See a man today with skin all broken out, see him a few weeks later after using the "Discovery," his skin is all cleared up, eyes bright, and he is contented with himself.

The foundation of good health is good blood. Are you pale? Are you weak? Are you no longer ambitious or energetic? Have you pimples or boils? Do you suffer from headaches, low spirits? Then you are anemic—your blood is thin, lacking in healthy strength—its red corpuscles. Then your blood is impure—and your liver is not up to its task of clearing the blood from the poisons accumulated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a temperance remedy that will restore to you rich, health-giving blood—a remedy proved by experience (in tablet or liquid form). It is a glyceric extract of roots from our forests, known to science as those which will best give the stomach, liver and bowels needed help.—Adv.
